FOREWORD BY TED COOKE

This month our nation turns 245 years old. The longest running continuous government in modern history, and by far the longest running constitutional republic. No matter what the Left tries to do, it can't take away the U.S. Constitution. Don't allow them to circumvent it. Continue to reason, care, be involved, speak out and help champion freedom.

The Urgent Need for Election Transparency in Washington State

by Brian Winkler

An unfortunate characteristic of human nature is the tendency to oppress other humans. Throughout history, civilizations have always contained a small segment that seeks to dominate and persecute anyone who poses a political challenge. A notable feature of the totalitarians is their tendency to seek and occupy positions of bureaucratic authority.

The Founders of the United States recognized this element of human nature, and so created the Constitution to protect Americans from it. The Constitution guarantees American Citizens the right to life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness, and We the People practice self-government through democracy to elect representatives who will secure those rights. An important feature of our Constitutional Republic is the concept of Federalism, or the decentralization of political power down to state and local governments. Because political power tends to centralize and oppress, Federalism serves as a guard against centralization by pushing political power down to individual citizens. Nowhere is this constitutional empowerment of the individual expressed more fervently than in our right to vote.

And not only are we empowered to vote at the ballot box, but we are also empowered to 'vote with our feet'. Federalism, which decentralizes government authority, empowers us to relocate anywhere within our Constitutional Republic. For example, if living conditions in Seattle become unbearable because the extremist state and city governments perpetuate homelessness and enable criminals, then you are free to move to Florida where the state government is more obedient to the Constitution and respectful to its law-abiding citizens (and not surprisingly, this is happening quite often).

American Federalism is in irreconcilable conflict with the globalist vision held by groups such as the extremist Democrat Party, a minority of autocrats in the Republican Party, corporate CEOs, bureaucrats of corrupt nations, BLM Inc., and anarchist-communists like Antifa. For now, these groups are unified by a common dream of a powerful, centralized world government with global jurisdiction that abandons American sovereignty and exercises military-like command and control over our economic and cultural lives, starting with energy production. Under a globalist regime, you can forget about voting with your feet (unless you have a rocket ship that will fly to another planet).

The globalist vision represents the interests of neither working-class Citizens nor the American majority. And this is why the current political establishment has been working to administer elections in a way that empowers elections bureaucracies to choose our policy and our politicians while denying the democratic will of the people. The power has shifted from the people casting votes to the people counting votes. This is accomplished by (1) the deliberate degradation of voting standards and rules, (2) the deliberate obscurity around who is legally allowed to vote, and (3) the blatant denial of any transparency or scrutiny into the legitimacy of the vote. With the power to control voter rolls, tolerate low standards around registration and identification, and deny any scrutiny, the elections bureaucracy can effectively dictate whatever it wants. The word for this is tyranny, and it is dangerous. Washington was one of the first states to experiment with such anti-democratic processes, and it is an embarrassment that they were exported to the rest of the country for the 2020 general election.

To illustrate the serious nature and consequences of how our elections in Washington have evolved, consider a sample of the Charter Amendments that were voted on and passed in King County during the 2020 general election:

- Charter Amendment 3: eliminates the word “citizen”, and replaces it with “member of the public” in the preamble of the county charter.
- Charter Amendment 4: grants subpoena power to the Office of Law Enforcement Oversight (OLEO).
- Charter Amendment 5: transfers power from the people who once elected the County Sheriff to the King County government which will now appoint the Sheriff.
- Charter Amendment 6: eliminates the Sheriff’s constitutional duties to uphold state law and grants power to the King County government to redefine those duties.

The extremist nature of these ballot measures has gone largely unnoticed. In King County, the 2020 general election has effectively created a totalitarian police state overnight. Throughout American history, the County Sheriff has been an esteemed office whose duties are to uphold the Constitution, which protects our individual liberties as American Citizens. Through ballot measures in 2020, King County has effectively abandoned that rich history and turned the law enforcement apparatus into a political weapon which can enforce extremist ideologies and outcomes. Apparently the ‘progressive’ agenda resembles that of Nazi Germany, the Soviet Union, the Chinese Communist Party, and every other oppressive regime that has ever existed.

It is imperative that these ballot measures get audited in full detail, similar to how the state of Arizona is auditing its 2020 election. Ronald Reagan famously said “freedom is one generation away from extinction”. By denying transparency into how such extremism can become public policy, autocrats like Kim Wyman demonstrate just how quickly the government can enact radical policy that ignores the Constitution and completely violates our individual liberties. And during our scrutiny of the 2020 election, it is even more imperative that leaders from both political parties come to agreement on precisely what constitutes a legal vote, and how our elections administration will ensure that only legal votes get counted in the future. Additionally, post-election audits should be embedded as a routine part of this system.

Unfortunately, Washington state has set a bad example for transparency into our democratic institutions. But the good news is that we have an opportunity to turn things around and set a good example. It is our duty as Americans and Washingtonians to reform our democratic processes and ensure that they produce outcomes which reflect the will of the people, and not the will of the bureaucrats. The Republican Party defeated slavery, championed civil rights and ended racial segregation, and now it is time for us to defeat the extremists who wish to abandon our Constitution and seize unlimited oppressive power. And our Republican Secretary of State must give her full support in this effort.

TEAM MEMBER INTERVIEW - JEFF HARVEY

Interviewer: So Jeff, you do a lot for KCGOP. You’re kind of the man behind the scenes who keeps everything running. Tell me a little bit about your background.

Jeff: I started getting involved in politics when my dad on my 12th birthday gave me Rush Limbaugh’s The Way Things Ought To Be book, and him and I would spend weekends discussing each chapter. It really started tailoring me towards conservative politics.

TEAM MEMBER INTERVIEW - JEFF HARVEY

I don't talk about this much, but I struggled with school as a kid and when I got into high school I wasn't paying attention to some of my studies. So, when I was struggling a bit at Mariner High School in Everett in the 10th grade I had an incredible English teacher come up to me and say, "You have two choices in life. You can either pump gas or have the gas pumped for you." I'll never forget that. She said, "I'm forming this Speech and Debate team", that Mariner hadn't had for a while, and she said, "I want you to be part of it, I want to get you back on track." So for my tenth, eleventh and twelfth grade I was on the Speech and Debate team, and my eleventh and twelfth grade I actually became the captain of the debate team.

I just fell in love with politics, I loved the logic behind the debates in it, and I loved the policies and the analyzing. I went to Bellevue Community College and then Seattle University where I studied Political Science. When I was at Seattle University I got an internship down in Olympia with former state Senator Jim Horn in the 41st District.

My first paid political campaign job was in 2004 to manage Jim Horn's senate race, and then after that I started moving around the country working on campaigns. I moved to DC for the first time in 2005 and was hired on by the Republican National Committee, where I got shipped out to Wisconsin for a year and a half, working on races there, and then in 2007 I was fortunate enough to work on Rudy Giuliani's presidential primary race. In 2008 I managed a congressional race, Oregon District 5, one of the most competitive open races in the country that year. In 2009 I worked on Chris Christie's gubernatorial race in New Jersey. And then the highlight of my political career was in 2010 when I managed Dave Reichert's congressional race in 2010, and then becoming his Chief of Staff in 2011. I moved out to D.C. and was his Chief of Staff for about four and a half years before starting my own political consulting firm, and having Reichert as my first client. I was a senior advisor up until he retired. It was the honor of my life to be able to serve the 8th Congressional District alongside Dave Reichert and I look forward to Republicans taking that seat back in 2022.

After that I became president of Enterprise Washington, a pro-business PAC here in Washington State. They spend about 2 million in expenditures each cycle on pro business candidates. After leaving Enterprise Washington, I began consulting again and that is when I met Joshua Freed. I ran his LG race last cycle and then I was very fortunate and honored to have Joshua ask me to be Executive Director when he was elected Chair.

Interviewer: And what is your current role?

TEAM MEMBER INTERVIEW - JEFF HARVEY

Jeff: My current role is the Executive Director. I run all of the day to day operations, I'm trying to find new ways to streamline processes like PCO sign ups. We're working with candidates right now to get them data so we can start winning some of these school district and city council races. And I am looking forward to the 2022 elections and recruiting good candidates, and watching the current redistricting to try to find those lines where the new districts might be. We are looking to have a full slate of candidates ready to run in are looking to 2022.

The KCGOP is also very heavily interested in election integrity. We recently created the Election Integrity Committee as a standing committee, which you just happen to be a Co-Chair of. In my role, I am a resource for the committee and a conduit to the King County Elections department. I am also helping candidates with everything from handout editing to talking points for speeches and debates.

There's a lot to be done, so I don't define myself as a person with one specific role, in campaigns and politics it's very much a utility role, so every day I find a new role that I need to play.

And ultimately as director my job is to figure out how we get people elected in King County, how we change our abysmal 25% statewide number, back up closer to 40% so we can have statewide candidates like Tiffany Smiley winning the US Senate race next year, and we can start taking back some of those 16 legislative districts where 15 out of the 16 are completely Democrat. We're working to get those back.

Interviewer: What would people say some of your talents are?

Jeff: [Laughter] It depends on who you ask... You know with campaigns I think my number one strength is grassroots. I've have over 20 years of doing this and focusing on the ground game. A strong grassroots operations is the way that you get that extra 1 to 2 ½ points in a competitive district or race.

Also analyzing data is something that I have been heavily involved in over many cycles, using Voter Vault, and now GOP Data Center, and I've worked with a lot of data companies like Causeway Solutions, looking for those buckets of voters that we might be able to persuade with one or two simple messages, or niche groups where you're only getting a quarter of a percent or half a percent extra but that's how you win those. So grassroots and analyzing data.

Interviewer: In your off time, what do you like to do for fun?

Jeff: [More laughter] Off time, when I have it, you know my life has kind of changed a little bit in the last few years. I became a born again Christian just as of a few months ago. So, where I used to spend 6 hours on the golf course on Sundays, I now enjoy spending a few hours at church and the rest of the day with my puppy. Or where I might have gone out with friends on a Wednesday, now I'm at Bible Study. I would say on my off time reading the Word of God and trying to figure out how I can be a better Christian is now a big part of my life.

TEAM MEMBER INTERVIEW - JEFF HARVEY

And I also love yardwork, so I'm in my yard doing project daily. Other than that my biggest love in life is smoking meat. I love smoking brisket and ribs, pretty much everything. I have become more of a home body over the years and really enjoy reading the Word of God, working in my yard, smoking meat and spending time with my puppy, Riley.

Interviewer: Those are great answers.

[Laughter]

Jeff: Honest to God truth!

Interviewer: I love it. So, what are your hopes for the future?

Jeff: My hopes for the future, you know I have dedicated myself to the Republican party for 2 decades, so my hopes are always going to be about King County and our state and praying we can bring civil dialogue back to politics in this county, where politicians aren't trying to catch the next news cycle or get the best click bait but instead they're talking about real ideas.

We see so much suffering. I remember as a kid going down to Seattle Center and riding a little roller coaster, having so much fun. Now I wouldn't bring any of my nieces or nephews down to Seattle. So, my hope is that Seattle specifically can get back to some kind of sanity where we can start bringing our families back there and we can be proud of the city like we used to be. And of course to win some elections in King County, state-wide, and some of these really important Seattle races. My hope is that we can get Washington back to where it was even 10 to 15 years ago.

Interviewer: Do you have a message for others?

Jeff: Yes, the biggest message I have as far as our party goes is that we are a diverse party of different ideas and different approaches but we all must stick to our conservative principles. Smaller government, lower taxes, protecting human life from conception until death, protecting our 2nd amendment rights and religious freedoms. And the only way that we win in King County is if we embrace different ideologies but sticking with the conservative principles that define our party. We have an amazing party in Washington state. We have dedicated activists and ideas that will help save our great state. I truly believe in 2022 and beyond we're going to start winning races again.

HUMOR - Children's Letters to Presidents

Every year many children write letters to our Presidents. The National Archives preserve these letters. Here are some excerpts:

"Dear President Eisenhower,

My girlfriends and I are writing all the way from Montana. We think it's bad enough to send Elvis Presley into the army, but if you cut his sideburns off we will just die!..."

-Linda Kelly, Sherry Bane and Mickie Mattson, 1958

"Dear Mr. President [Reagan],

...Today my mother declared my bedroom a disaster area. I would like to request federal funds to hire a crew to clean up my room..."

-Andy Smith, 1984

President Reagan replied personally to the letter above saying:

"Dear Andy,

...Your application for disaster relief has been duly noted but I must point out one technical problem: the authority declaring the disaster is supposed to make the request. In this case, your mother..."

"Dear President Bush,

My uncle bet $5 that you would win the election. Does he have to pay taxes on the $5?"

-Christopher P.

"Dear Mr. President [Kennedy],

I think Mrs. Kennedy is very pretty and very nice. She must be lots of fun.
Yours truly..."

-Nancy R

"Dear President Nixon,

As one of your Voter, I would like you to send children to Mars. I would appreciate it very much if I could go. Your Voter..."

-Mitchell Miller

"Dear Donald Trump,

If I were president I would let kids eat free, taxes low, school supply $20 off, everything that is 100$ is now 1$, everything for kid's is now free, and school's price is 10$..."

Zahilay made this statement just days before a dry run ranked choice vote in New York ended in confusion and pandemonium(1).

"BILL OF COMPLAINT"

Our Country stands at an important crossroads. Either the Constitution matters and must be followed, even when some officials consider it inconvenient or out of date, or it is simply a piece of parchment on display at the National Archives. We ask the Court to choose the former.

Lawful elections are at the heart of our constitutional democracy. The public, and indeed the candidates themselves, have a compelling interest in ensuring that the selection of a President—any President—is legitimate. If that trust is lost, the American Experiment will founder. A dark cloud hangs over the 2020 Presidential election.

Here is what we know. Using the COVID-19 pandemic as a justification, government officials in the defendant states of Georgia, Michigan, and Wisconsin, and the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania (collectively, "Defendant States"), usurped their legislatures' authority and unconstitutionally revised their state's election statutes. They accomplished these statutory revisions through executive fiat or friendly lawsuits, thereby weakening ballot integrity. Finally, these same government officials flooded the Defendant States with millions of ballots to be sent through the mails, or placed in drop boxes, with little or no chain of custody (3) and, at the same time, weakened the strongest security measures protecting the integrity of the vote—signature verification and witness requirements.

Presently, evidence of material illegality in the 2020 general elections held in Defendant States grows daily. And, to be sure, the two presidential candidates who have garnered the most votes have an interest in assuming the duties of the Office of President without a taint of impropriety threatening the perceived legitimacy of their election. However, 3 U.S.C. § 7 requires that presidential electors be appointed on December 14, 2020. That deadline, however, should not cement a potentially illegitimate election result in the middle of this storm—a storm that is of the Defendant States' own making by virtue of their own unconstitutional actions.

This Court is the only forum that can delay the deadline for the appointment of presidential electors under 3 U.S.C. §§ 5, 7. To safeguard public legitimacy at this unprecedented moment and restore public trust in the presidential election, this Court should extend the December 14, 2020 deadline for Defendant States' certification of presidential electors to allow these investigations to be completed. Should one of the two leading candidates receive an absolute majority of the presidential electors' votes to be cast on December 14, this would finalize the selection of our President. The only date that is mandated under the Constitution, however, is January 20, 2021. U.S. CONST. amend. XX.

Against that background, the State of Texas (“Plaintiff State”) brings this action against Defendant States based on the following allegations:

NATURE OF THE ACTION

1. Plaintiff State challenges Defendant States’ administration of the 2020 election under the Electors Clause of Article II, Section 1, Clause 2, and the Fourteenth Amendment of the U.S. Constitution.
2. This case presents a question of law: Did Defendant States violate the Electors Clause (or, in the alternative, the Fourteenth Amendment) by taking—or allowing—non-legislative actions to change the election rules that would govern the appointment of presidential electors?
3. Those unconstitutional changes opened the door to election irregularities in various forms. Plaintiff State alleges that each of the Defendant States flagrantly violated constitutional rules governing the appointment of presidential electors. In doing so, seeds of deep distrust have been sown across the country. In the spirit of Marbury v. Madison, this Court’s attention is profoundly needed to declare what the law is and to restore public trust in this election.
4. As Justice Gorsuch observed recently, “Government is not free to disregard the [Constitution] in times of crisis. ... Yet recently, during the COVID pandemic, certain States seem to have ignored these long-settled principles.” 592 U.S. ____ (2020) (Gorsuch, J., concurring). This case is no different.
5. Each of Defendant States acted in a common pattern. State officials, sometimes through pending litigation (e.g., settling “friendly” suits) and sometimes unilaterally by executive fiat, announced new rules for the conduct of the 2020 election that were inconsistent with existing state statutes defining what constitutes a lawful vote.
6. Defendant States also failed to segregate ballots in a manner that would permit accurate analysis to determine which ballots were cast in conformity with the legislatively set rules and which were not. This is especially true of the mail-in ballots in these States. By waiving, lowering, and otherwise failing to follow the state statutory requirements for signature validation and other processes for ballot security, the entire body of such ballots is now constitutionally suspect and may not be legitimately used to determine allocation of the Defendant States’ presidential electors.
7. The rampant lawlessness arising out of Defendant States’ unconstitutional acts is described in a number of currently pending lawsuits in Defendant States or in public view including:

- Dozens of witnesses testifying under oath about: the physical blocking and kicking out of Republican poll challengers; thousands of the same ballots run multiple times through tabulators; mysterious late night dumps of thousands of ballots at tabulation centers; illegally backdating thousands of ballots; signature verification procedures ignored; more than 173,000 ballots in the Wayne County, MI center that cannot be tied to a registered voter. (4)
- Videos of: poll workers erupting in cheers as poll challengers are removed from vote counting centers; poll watchers being blocked from entering vote counting centers—despite even having a court order to enter; suitcases full of ballots being pulled out from underneath tables after poll watchers were told to leave.
- Facts for which no independently verified reasonable explanation yet exists: On October 1, 2020, in Pennsylvania a laptop and several USB drives, used to program Pennsylvania's Dominion voting machines, were mysteriously stolen from a warehouse in Philadelphia. In Michigan, which also employed the same Dominion voting system, on November 4, 2020, Michigan election officials have admitted that a purported "glitch" caused 6,000 votes for President Trump to be wrongly switched to Democrat Candidate Biden. A flash drive containing tens of thousands of votes was left unattended in the Milwaukee tabulations center in the early morning hours of Nov. 4, 2020, without anyone aware it was not in a proper chain of custody.

8. Nor was this Court immune from the blatant disregard for the rule of law. Pennsylvania itself played fast and loose with its promise to this Court. In a classic bait and switch, Pennsylvania used guidance from its Secretary of State to argue that this Court should not expedite review because the State would segregate potentially unlawful ballots. A court of law would reasonably rely on such a representation. Remarkably, before the ink was dry on the Court's 4- 4 decision, Pennsylvania changed that guidance, breaking the State's promise to this Court. Compare Republican Party of Pa. v. Boockvar, No. 20-542, 2020 U.S. LEXIS 5188, at *5-6 (Oct. 28, 2020) ("we have been informed by the Pennsylvania Attorney General that the Secretary of the Commonwealth issued guidance today directing county boards of elections to segregate [late-arriving] ballots") (Alito, J., concurring) with Republican Party v. Boockvar, No. 20A84, 2020 U.S. LEXIS 5345, at *1 (Nov. 6, 2020) ("this Court was not informed that the guidance issued on October 28, which had an important bearing on the question whether to order special treatment of the ballots in question, had been modified") (Alito, J., Circuit Justice).

9. Expert analysis using a commonly accepted statistical test further raises serious questions as to the integrity of this election.

11. The same less than one in a quadrillion statistical improbability of Mr. Biden winning the popular vote in the four Defendant States—Georgia, Michigan, Pennsylvania, and Wisconsin— independently exists when Mr. Biden’s performance in each of those Defendant States is compared to former Secretary of State Hilary Clinton’s performance in the 2016 general election and President Trump’s performance in the 2016 and 2020 general elections. Again, the statistical improbability of Mr. Biden winning the popular vote in these four States collectively is 1 in 1,000,000,000,000. Id. 10-13, 17-21, 30-31.

12. Put simply, there is substantial reason to doubt the voting results in the Defendant States.....”

-Ken Paxton, Attorney General of Texas, “In The Supreme Court of the United States... Motion For Leave To File Bill Of Complaint”, December 8th 2020. The motion was rejected 7 to 2 saying Texas had, “not demonstrated a judicially cognizable interest in the manner in which another State conducts its elections”, never mind that if one state flagrantly violates it’s own election law the wrongly apportioned electoral college votes directly affect all states. Supporting Texas’ valid claims were Justices Thomas and Alito.

Classical Thought – Classical Edition

Classical education was the intellectual and moral foundation for the generations in the Western world, generations that overthrew the tyranny of divine right of kings, ended chattel slavery, brought voting rights to all individuals regardless of physical feature or gender, and defeated tyranny in two World Wars and the Cold War. Classical education has almost been completely replaced in our modern school systems during the past sixty years – and particularly in the last decade – with religious modern Humanism and Atheism, which teaches faith in metaphysical naturalism (5) and the supremacy of socialist thought. (Torasco v. Watkins 1961(6)) This has been done across disciplines in all areas of public education.

So what was a classical education? And what are some practical materials you can put in the hands of your fellow students, children and grandchildren to make sure they are experiencing elements of classical education?

From the Middle Ages onward the hallmark of classical education was the Trivium, an emphasis on grammar, logic and rhetoric. Grammar, so a child could learn in the first place. Logic, so a child could think critically and reason. And finally rhetoric, so a child could have wisdom and moral character grounded in honesty, responsibility, service and faith.

(5) Metaphysical Naturalism is the faith that the only things which exist are time, space and matter, or as Carl Sagan famously put it at the start of the original TV Series Cosmos, “The Cosmos is all this is, or ever was, or ever will be.” The viewpoint contradicts the fact that the laws of logic and preconditions for intelligibility - rationality, perception, thought, etc. - are all entirely separate from time, space and matter.

(6) <https://caselaw.findlaw.com/us-supreme-court/367/488.html> “Among religions in this country which do not teach what would generally be considered a belief in the existence of God are...Ethical Culture, Secular Humanism and others...”

Classical Thought – Classical Edition

The Trivium was originally formulated by Martianus Capella who was a Latin writer and thinker active in the late Roman Empire, during the early part of the fifth century. The Trivium was meant to lay the groundwork for the four higher disciplines of arithmetic, geometry, music (time and numbers) and astronomy, which were known as the Quadrivium. Taken together the Trivium and the Quadrivium made up the seven humanities - liberal arts - of Classical antiquity.

Grammar. Logic. Rhetoric.

Ability to learn. Ability to reason. Wisdom and moral character.

In the tradition of classical education most Western schooling up until just a few decades ago had a grounding in classical materials –

- The Psalms and Proverbs
- Homer's Iliad and Odyssey
- Aesop's Fables
- The works of Roman historians and authors - Herodotus, Tacitus, Cicero, Julius Caesar, etc.
- The Gospels
- The Magna Carta
- The works of William Shakespeare
- The laws of logic
- The New England Primer
- The writings of our founders and Presidents - Washington, Jefferson, Franklin, Madison, Lincoln, etc.
- The works of classical composers - Vivaldi, Beethoven, Tchaikovsky, Grieg, etc.
- Webster's Dictionary, when it was neutral, honest and reasonably unchanging
- The grammar and composition rules of the Modern Language Association, when they were neutral, honest and reasonably unchanging
- Roberts Rules of Order for parliamentary assemblies

The schools aren't teaching much of these anymore.

Here are some materials to encourage fellow students, children and grandchildren to explore the ideas and concepts found in most of the above materials –

- The Daily Audio Bible and Daily Audio Bible for Kids, the site also does separate pages for both the Psalms and Proverbs - <https://player.dailyaudiobible.com>, <https://player.dailyaudiobible.com/kids>
- PragerU's Five Minute Videos which provide conservative commentary on current and past events - <https://www.prageru.com/series/5-minute-videos/>

- The group LibriVox offers audiobook versions of public domain works of all types, including much of what's mentioned in the list above (Homer, Roman authors, commentaries on Magna Carta, etc.). You can stream the works right from the site - <https://librivox.org>
- You can do a search for logic fallacies on the internet and find many excellent lists of fallacies. (Make sure that the list you choose to learn from has Latin phrases for the different fallacies. Some newer definitions on pages that don't use the original Latin are starting to manipulate the definitions.) My personal favorite site listing logic fallacies is at - <http://www.csun.edu/~dgw61315/fallacies.html>
- Author Ian Doescher has done a phenomenal job of translating popular movies - such as Star Wars and Back To The Future - into being Shakespearean plays, and the audio is phenomenal. Families enjoy listening from young to old. They can be found on Audible - <https://www.audible.com/author/Ian-Doescher/B00BJQ8876>
- Rush Revere books are historically accurate accounts of American history, narrated from the point of view of a fictional substitute teacher named "Rush Revere" and his talking horse "Liberty". Started by the late Rush Limbaugh, the book series will be continued in the future - <https://rushrevere.com>
- Political Comedian Steven Crowder does a series of videos called "Change My Mind" in which he reasons with Left leaning college students and champions conservative principles. Warning, his audience is millennials and some of his content involves swearing, fake nudity and play-acting as alternate lifestyle individuals. An excellent resource for reaching out to millennials - <https://www.louderwithcrowder.com/search/?q=change+my+mind>
- Political Comedian Remy does a series of music videos for Reason.com based on popular songs many young people are familiar with, and always delivers strong conservative messages - <https://reason.com/search/remy/?type=video>
- The "Wayback Machine" internet archive - Until recently this site has been excellent and unaltered but I'm noticing a few editorial changes creeping into some of the results. Still, in general if you want to know what the Merriam Websters and MLA definitions or standards were 20 years ago (or anything else like that) find the current web page, copy the web address out of the top of your browser, and plug it into the Wayback Machine to see if they have any pages cached from a decade or two ago so you can see content from before it was altered to be politically correct -<https://archive.org/web/>
- The Epoch Times provides a weekly print edition for a subscription and both the print edition and their website (available by itself for free with some subscription-only content locked) provides excellent news, plus articles on lifestyle, arts and other content from a conservative / classical viewpoint - <https://www.theepochtimes.com>

- ShiftWA provides excellent State and Local reporting from a conservative / libertarian viewpoint - <https://shiftwa.org>
- We The Governed provides great local investigative reporting and local commentary from a solidly conservative viewpoint. Glen Morgan who runs the site has also made many excellent videos available on Youtube - <https://www.wethegoverned.com>
